

Wes Olson

Wes grew up in Black Diamond, along the east slopes south of Calgary. Wes has been drawing and painting from an early age, but writing is a talent he began to explore only later in life. Following a 40 year career working with wild species in wilderness areas he has been provided with a lifetime of experience upon which he draws inspiration for his art, books, and presentations. He and Johane travel extensively to give presentations to a wide range of audiences, with the goal of helping people understand the complexities of nature, and how inter-related all wild beings are to each other, and how incredibly important it is for us to help protect these places and the species that inhabit them.
